LOSS OF IMPORTANT DOCUMENTS OR POSSESSIONS

Your passport

If you lose your passport, you should file a report at the local police station because a police report will most likely be required when you apply for a new passport. You should then contact your country's embassy or consulate to apply for a replacement. Most countries also provide information on their websites about the procedure for replacing a lost or stolen passport.

Your credit or debit card

If you lose a credit or debit card, you should immediately contact the bank that issued the card to notify them of the loss and have your card deactivated. Most banks provide a 24-hour hotline service for lost or stolen cards – this information is generally available on your credit card or bank statement. There is also a general cancellation hotline (Sperr-Notruf) through which you can cancel most credit and debit cards as well as some mobile SIM cards and other services.
